

Public Speaking: Strategies for Presentations,
Convincing Arguments, and Great Talks and Lectures
(Javno nastopanje)

From ancient Greece until the 19th century, it was a standard part of one's education to be taught rhetoric: the art of public speaking and how best to make a compelling argument. This is no longer taught, but its lessons are more valuable than ever. This three-day workshop will help participants learn how to give strong, dynamic, engaging and convincing public talks, lectures, and presentations, as well as teaching how to make strong arguments in one-on-one settings. From Powerpoint presentation design to speaking from a podium or to a classroom, from interviews with a potential client to giving talks to an auditorium or on television, this workshop will help participants to come across as more thoughtful and confident.

Professor Charney is an internationally best-selling American writer of fiction and non-fiction, and an award-winning columnist. He also gives talks around the world, including a pair of TEDx talks, and regular work as a presenter for television programs. Learn more about his work at www.noahcharney.com